Supervising Postgraduate Students Workshop for Faculty

David C. Stuckey.
Professor
Imperial College London

David Stuckey is currently Emeritus Professor in Biochemical Engineering in the Department of Chemical Engineering at Imperial College London. He obtained his Batchelors degree in Chemical Engineering, and a Masters degree in Biochemical Engineering from the University of Melbourne, Australia. He then did his Ph.D in Environmental Engineering at Stanford. Prof Stuckey has worked in Australia, the U.S., Norway (at NTH/SINTEF in Trondheim), Switzerland (ETH/EAWAG in Zurich), and the U.K. (Uni of Sussex, and I.C.). He has been a Visiting Professor at NEWRI at NTU since 2012, and currently he works in both SCELSE and NEWRI.

This workshop aims to provide an opportunity for participants to discuss good practice in research supervision. Through a range of presentations, case studies, and role plays, and drawing on the experience of the group, it creates the opportunity to discuss and acquire a range of strategies and techniques for effective supervision.
